

Owlet Case Study

Introduction

In this course we use a case study by Owlet Care to illustrate and practice the concept of testing business ideas all the way from hypotheses to taking action. Owlet is a bootie for babies that informs parents of vital health signs. It made headlines in 2015 when it raised a $7 million A round, after winning the 2013 international Business Model Competition (the first and largest Lean Startup competition in the world).

Watch the introduction video below to become acquainted with Owlet's business idea.
