Your Turn - Generate Insights

After running the experiment and collecting evidence, you need to describe your key learnings & insights. Did the experiment support your hypothesis? What other things did you learn from customers? Capture your learnings & insights in the Learning Card.

Your insights are:

- What you learn from studying the evidence.
- Learning related to the validity of a hypothesis and potential discovery of new directions.
- The foundation to make informed business decisions and take action.

TOTAL TIME: 20min per experiment

Directions

1. Generate Insights

To generate your insights, you need your Test Card, and your observations in the Learning Card. You ask yourself:

"Do our observations in the Learning Card meet the success criteria we defined in the Test Card?"

You can have four different answers to that question:

- Evidence supports hypothesis
- Evidence doesn't support hypothesis
