

Practice your business model design skills.
Sketch out an existing business model of your choice.

It's best to select a business model that you think is particularly interesting or a business model that you know well.

To do this exercise:

- Print a large Business Model Canvas poster or draw one on a whiteboard.
Alternatively, do this exercise directly in the Strategyzer App.
- Don't write on the canvas. Use sticky notes instead so you can move things around. Only write one idea per sticky note and don't use bullet points.
- Make sure you apply all the ground rules and best practices you've learned previously. For example, use colour coding for different segments and/or value propositions.

Keep this Business Model Canvas with you as we will need it for upcoming exercises.
