

It's time to apply what you have learned and sketch out a Customer Profile. It's best to think of a customer segment that you know well.

To complete this exercise:

- Print out or draw a Customer Profile. You can also do this exercise in the Strategyzer App.
- Don't write on the canvas. Use sticky notes instead so you can move things around. Only write one idea per sticky note and don't use bullet points.
- Use the customer jobs trigger questions if you need help listing your customer's jobs.
- Make sure you think of the jobs that really matter to your customers beyond those related directly to your products and services.
