

Come up with six interview questions to test the accuracy of your Customer Profile from the previous lesson.

The Customer Profile you completed in your last exercise is based on some assumptions. Imagine yourself talking to the actual customer to find evidence for the jobs, pains, and gains you mapped out in the Customer Profile.

To do this exercise:

- Grab a pen and paper.
- Focus on your Customer Profile from the previous lesson.
- Write down six interview questions. What could you ask to learn more about their jobs, pains, and gains?
